

Mammals all need air to breathe—
that's why they all have lungs.

